"TOWARD HOME"

Toward the setting sun I go
... over field and stream
... eager to reach my sweet home
... where life is a dream
... onward through a covered bridge
... down a shady lane
... echoing inside my heart
... is true love's refrain
... winding roadways beckon me
... as I go along
... though my legs be weary
... faith is ever strong
... soon paradise will be mine
... peace is close at hand
... my heart longs to be with
... those who understand
... so it is each eventide
... I will make my way
... to a place where dreams are spun
... till the break of day.

Scouts Hear Talk On Park Service

Saturday evening on Pardee Field, over 100 Boy Scouts and their leaders from Bryn Mawr and Oreland heard the story of the beginning and growth of National Parks in this country.

Park Ranger Bill Rabinstein of the local Park Service staff told how around a similar campfire the night of September 19, 1870, in the high country of northwestern Wyoming, a group of men sat talking of ways to protect this land from the westward movement of civilization that could destroy its beauty.

"Due to their efforts, a National Park Act was passed by Congress in January of 1872. In March of that same year, President Grant signed the bill which created Yellowstone National Park—first in the nation, first in the world. It was not until 1916 that Congress established the National Park Service," he said. The Boy Scouts from Bryn Mawr, Pa., and Oreland, Pa., camped on Pardee Field over the weekend.

Wildcat Strike In Second Week

MASONTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A wildcat strike affecting soft coal miners in a six-state area entered its second full week today with little hope of a quick settlement.

An estimated 10,000 miners are out on strike in Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky.

Most of them are disgruntled over an international contract signed recently in Washington, D. C. The contract provides a pay boost but the miners say they want increased fringe benefits.

The situation in Kentucky has a different aspect. There about 1,000 miners elected Saturday to stay away from mines which have not signed the new contract.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Our enterprising young neighbor, Alburts Danner, presented us a few days ago with a match holder prepared from a shell found upon the battlefield. It is unique in its appearance and besides has an additional interest in its connection with the great struggle in July. He has a number of articles, both useful and ornamental, made from relics of the battle, and persons wishing such articles would do well to give him a call at Danner and Ziegler's Store.

The letter press is composed of a great variety of interesting and amusing literary matter, much of it being a continuation of popular stories, running through several numbers, among the contributors of which we notice the well-known names of Marion Harland, Mary W. Janvyn, and others. The unknown favor with which this magazine is received appears from the fact that it circulates 160,000 copies monthly.

Washington, April 1: A letter from the Army of the Potomac says that the Rebels for the past two days have been busily engaged in digging rifle pits along the south side of the Rapidan, in the vicinity of Rapidan Ford. It is also reported by deserters that they are tearing up the railroad between Fredericksburg and Hanover Junction. Six deserters came in yesterday, bringing their wives and twelve children. They traveled by way of Madison Court House, where their families had been living, encountering great hardships on the route. Twenty-two prisoners sentenced by court-martial to labor on the public works, for terms ranging from one to ten years, were sent to Alexandria yesterday on their way to the fields of their future toil.

Today's Talk

TO THOSE WHO "GIVE IN"

It would be fine if this world were made up of nothing but strong human beings, who would always be right. Unfortunately, it is not. And so it is that many of us must constantly "give in" to someone, or remain silent, in order to help this world run along more smoothly.

It has been said that all life is a compromise, and I believe that much of it is. Only the truly great, however, refuse to compromise with bed-rock principles. I have in mind, rather, the little happenings of daily life where there are misunderstandings and misinterpretations. These should be compromised where another's hurt might result, and one's own peace of mind be disturbed.

It is not the weakling who gives in. It is usually the strong one, for he has so much greater vision. He is not afraid to push his pride aside when the happiness of another is involved. Petty little disputes, and so-called slights often wrangle in one's consciousness. The best procedure is to get rid of them at once, by giving in where it is possible to make things run along smoothly and happily again.

None of us is so right that he can afford to travel along alone in such an interesting world as this is. There is both a physical and spiritual back-wash to misunderstandings that disturb the mine. What a loneliness there is to those who refuse to give in! In the home, in business, in politics, religion, and in government, we see how disastrous it is not to give in when things get embroiled and need the calming of understanding. They used to call Henry Clay "the great pacifier." A wonderful title for any of us to own.

Abraham Lincoln had this quality, or shall we call it genius, of smoothing things over so that the greatest good to all might result. He was always patient and understanding — even to his enemies — of whom there were plenty in his own official family.

STARTING OUT
They're planning to get married, and I'm rather glad they are. Although the road ahead today seems difficult and far. They're very little money, and I'm rather pleased at that. They'll know the joy of striving in an inexpensive flat.

They're launching out together with high hopes and courage great. They'd dreamed of having riches, but they've chosen not to wait. And they're starting out with little — just his salary every week — and they'll have to save and struggle now for every gain they seek.

Their bills will give them trouble, and they'll sigh for things in vain. She's going to do the cooking, and I fancy 'twill be plain. He'll help her in the kitchen and he'll dry the dishes, too. And learn a lot of duties that he never thought he'd do.

But every chair they purchase will be laden with delight; Every trinket treasured and saved for will with joy be doubly bright.

So I'm not the least bit sorry, but am positively glad. For they'll know the fun of striving which they dare and mothers had.

She is an energetic believer in getting things done, one who assumed the duty of president of the state organization with the avowed intention of extending her domain."

and she ran her legs off visiting prospects, worked her head off for the projects of the order and threw her heart into getting things done. During this year she has gone through snow, sleet and hail to get to all parts of the state, sometimes making visitations to as many as three local organizations in a day, and arrived at all smiling, charming and apparently tireless. We appreciate all that she has done to extend the goals of our organization and the 10,000 members of the Pennsylvania Auxiliary thank you." At the conclusion of her talk Mrs. Turner presented Mrs. Rittase with a check "as a small token of esteem."

Bullets Lose Opener To Penn State 5-3; Meet Albright Here Tuesday

Scoring two runs in the bottom of the sixth inning and supporting the three-hit pitching of Senior Dick Noe, Penn State outlasted the Gettysburg College Bullets 5-3, Saturday afternoon on the winner's field before an overflow crowd of 2,400 fans. The baseball contest marked the first of the regular season for both squads although State had just returned from a week's southern training trip.

Coach Gene Hummel got a good look at his young ball club working together for the first time. The most impressive performance was turned in by Sophomore Jim Ward. Ward nailed down third base defensively and at the plate poled the big blow of the encounter. He blasted a home run on the second pitch delivered as he faced his first opposing collegiate hurler. Junior Al Hallam collected the Bullets' second safety on an infield grounder and Frank Wolfgang, sophomore center fielder, followed with a misjudged single to left.

Junior southpaw Bill Forester tossed for five innings before he gave way to Junior Paul Krueger. Forester allowed just one hit, struck out four and walked four. Krueger is charged with the loss. Noe of the Lions started out slow but improved as the game progressed. Noe struck out seven and gave up three walks. One thing that hurt the pitchers was the sloppy fielding. State committed five miscues and Gettysburg was charged with four.

Ward's homer put the Bullets in the lead until the bottom of the third inning. State crossed the plate twice on a hit batsman to Don Tokash, Fred Light's triple to deep center an infield miscue. The Bullets regained the lead in the fifth when Pete Wolynec got on via an error, stole second and continued to third on a bad throw. Hallam and Wolfgang singled to send over Wolynec and Hallam.

The Nittany Lions came back in the bottom of the sixth with the eventual game-winning runs. Ed Kmit led off with a single. After Gregory sacrificed, Barry Rodenhaven and Ed Springer singled and Noe clouted a double to the opposite field. State added a security score in the seventh when Light walked, went all the way to third on a ground out, and stole home on a disputed play.

The victory marked the 11th straight for Penn State over the Bullets in the long series between the two schools. The last Gettysburg win was recorded in 1954.

Gettysburg will attempt to break into the win column when they entertain Albright Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock on Ira Plank diamond.

CEPEDA HAVING BEST SPRING SEASON EVER

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Orlando Cepeda wasn't a hold-out this year, which may cause National League pitchers to wish they had been.

Cepeda, San Francisco's controversial slugger, is ripping his way through the best spring he has had in his seven-year career.

He smashed his sixth home run Sunday in the Giants' 5-2 exhibition baseball victory over Boston. He has a .419 batting average, three doubles and four triples to go along with the homers.

MOJOR FACTOR
A major factor in Cepeda's exploding spring play very easily could be the lack of a contract battle with the Giants' front office. He signed for $53,000 and started training when everyone else did.

That was entirely different from last season when he held out for 24 days before signing for a token raise to an estimated $47,000.

He proceeded to hit .316, clout 34 homers and knock in 97 runs, a performance still well below his 1961 output when he batted .311, hit 46 homers and drove in 142 tallies.

The Giants lost to Los Angeles 10-7 last Wednesday, but Cepeda smashed a home run, a double and two singles. In a 5-3 triumph over Cleveland last Friday, he slugged two homers and a single, good for four runs batted in.

Elsewhere around the exhibition circuit, Bob Bailey hit two home runs and Jim Pagliaroni got a three-run blast, but Cincinnati stopped Pittsburgh 8-5 behind John Edwards' three doubles and a single.

Milwaukee swept past Washington 5-3 in 11 innings while Detroit nipped Philadelphia 3-2 in 10. St. Louis edged the New York Mets 2-1, the New York Yankees rallied for a 6-4 triumph against Houston and the Chicago Cubs came from behind for an 8-6 victory over Cleveland.

Minnesota defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-1, and Baltimore whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-1.

BOROS WINS PLAYOFF AT GREENSBORO

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Julius Boros generated a hot 66 in a 45-degree temperature to catch Doug Sanders and then went on to beat him in a one-hole playoff in winning the Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament Sunday. It was a sharp final competitive tuneup for the Masters Championship.

Last year when Jack Nicklaus won at Augusta, Boros finished third, two shots off the pace.

The 44-year-old U.S. Open champion said "I'm putting much better than last year, although I'm not playing as well otherwise as I did at Augusta. With my improved putting and this win behind me, maybe I can go down there with greater confidence."

ARNOLD IN 13TH
Nicklaus, who defends the Masters title starting Thursday, began the final round here with a three-shot edge over his nearest rivals and was five in front of Boros.

But Nicklaus shot a double bogey 5 on the third hole and struggled the rest of the way. He finished two over par with 73 for 279 and fourth place.

Another Masters favorite, Arnold Palmer, ended in a tie for 13th place with 286. He shot par 71 for his final trip over the 7,000-yard Sedgefield Country Club course.

PRIZE MONEY BOOSTED
Boros accepted the $6,600 top prize money with the notation, "We have five children down in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and can use it." He won an additional $400 for the low score of the final round.

Tournament sponsors boosted the prize money an additional $10,000 Saturday night after three days of record crowds.

Boros, with rounds of 68-70-73-66 for a 277 total, was seven under par. Sanders shot 277 in 73-70-66-68. He won $3,900 in defense of the title he won last spring.

$77,767 WIN
AGUA CALIENTE, Mex. (AP)—Walter McNally, a Los Angeles food broker, won $77,767 on a pool ticket at the Caliente horse race track Sunday.

His was the only ticket with all six winners in the fifth through 10th races. The ticket cost $2.

OWLS BLANK G-BURG NET OUTFIT 9-0

A change in the lineup due to the absence of two players saw the Gettysburg College tennis team miff its 1964 opening performance by dropping a 9-0 verdict to powerful Temple, Saturday afternoon on the winner's courts.

Wayne Streitz and Sophomore Gerry Mack were unable to perform forcing Coach Bob Hulton to alter his lineup.

In the process, players in the lower half of the order were pushed into the middle of the lineup, facing tough opponents.

Veteran number one man, Rick Savage, and sixth player Sophomore Garry Bloom, turned in fine jobs in their singles assignments despite losses.

Savage went three sets before losing to Neil Lucera 6-3, 4-6, 6-2. Bloom lost his encounter to Jeff Stokes in two sets but by counts of 7-5, 9-7.

Paul Folkemer and Sophomore Chuck Miller looked good in the number two doubles and went three sets before losing to Bob Morris and Chris Groat, 6-4, 1-6, 6-2.

Gettysburg's doubles hurt the Bullets last year, but from the looks of things they will pick up this year when the squad hits its full potential.

Saturday's battle was the first encounter for both teams this season. Gettysburg will attempt to hit the win column this afternoon when it was scheduled to face Franklin and Marshall in Lancaster.

The results:
Neil Lucera, T. defeated Rick Savage, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2; Bob Morris, T. defeated Doug Pincock, 6-4, 6-4; Rusty Silverman, T. defeated Paul Folkemer, 6-2, 6-4; Chris Groat, T. defeated Chuck Miller, 6-4, 6-2; John Ballis, T. defeated Herb Murphy, 6-1, 6-3; Jeff Stokes, T. defeated Garry Bloom, 7-5, 9-7.

DOUBLES
Lucera and Silverman, T. defeated Savage and Pincock, 6-1, 6-3; Morris and Groat, T. defeated Folkemer and Miller, 6-4, 1-6, 6-2; Harvey Fleeger and Dave Earnstein, T. defeated Murphy and Bloom, 6-1, 6-0.

CARR BETTERS HIS OWN MARK

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP)—Arizona State University's Henry Carr wanted to give his bride of six days a present. He did a world record-bettering performance for the curved 220-yard dash.

"After the way Adolph Plummer popped off," Carr said after topping his own world standard with a 20.2 timing Saturday night, "I decided he would like it if I beat him."

Carr's effort bettered his 20.3 world mark set on the same track March 23 last year, but it may not be accepted because there was no official wind gauge on the track.

The fleet 6-foot-3 junior and his wife, Glenda, were married in Detroit, Mich., March 29. While they were enroute to the A-State campus, Plummer announced he wanted a chance to beat him.

The world record holder in the 440-yard dash got it, but little else in their race during a dual track and field meet which the Sun Devils lost to Plummer's Southern California Striders 99-54.

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Ed Lopat, manager of the Kansas City Athletics, declined to comment Sunday on the announcement by owner Charles O. Finley that the right field fence in Kansas City will be shortened to the dimensions of the fence in Yankee Stadium.

DICK DAVIES SELECTED TO OLYMPIC TEAM

Dick Davies, brother of Bob Davies, Country Club Lane, is one of the 12 men named to the U. S. Olympic basketball team.

At 29, Davies is probably the oldest member of the squad. He attended Gettysburg College for one year in 1954 when brother Bob was the Bullet coach and then transferred to Louisiana University where he graduated in 1961 after a brilliant career. For the last three years he has played with the Good-year Wingfoots AAU championship team. Davies, 6-1, 175, turned in a brilliant performance in the final game of the tryouts Saturday when he stopped Bill Bradley, Princeton, effectively and contributed 13 points.

NEW YORK (AP)—There are many basketball coaches around who'd love a chance to pick at the leftovers now that the 1964 Olympic basketball squad has been selected.

But Hank Iba, who'll coach the U.S. entry at Tokyo in October, has no complaints with the 12-man squad and seven alternates chosen after three days of trials at St. John's University.

"I got what I wanted," said Iba, the Oklahoma State coach who has achieved 700 collegiate victories.

2 ALL-AMERICANS
What he got was two All-Americans heading a power-packed team which includes three members of the Goodyear Wingfoots, National AAU champions.

Walt Hazzard of UCLA and Bill Bradley of Princeton were the All-Americans chosen. The selection committee picked Pete McCaffrey, Larry Brown and Dick Davies from the Wingfoot.

Rounding out the squad were Jim Barnes of Texas Western, Joe Caldwell of Arizona State, Mel Counts of Oregon State, Lucious Jackson of Pan American College, Jeff Mullins of Duke, Jerry Shipp of the Phillips 66ers and George Wilson of the Jamaco Saints.

Picked as alternates who'll stand by to replace the top 12, were Gail Goodrich of UCLA, Bunk Adams of the U.S. Army, Fred Hestel of Davidson, Willie Murrell of Kansas State, Cotton Nash of Kentucky, Reggie Milton of the U.S. Air Force and Dave Stallworth of Wichita.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Mary Lena Faulk, winner of the $10,000 St. Petersburg Women's Open Golf championship, says things are looking up after a victory drought of nearly two years.

"It's a good way to start the new year," she said Sunday after picking up $1,500 first prize money for her three-stroke victory over 37 professionals and 123 amateurs.

Despite several outstanding performances by individuals, the Gettysburg College track team suffered in 83-48 walloping at the hands of a strong Temple outfit Saturday afternoon in Temple Stadium, Philadelphia. The meet was the first of the year for both teams.

Gettysburg took only four first places and, expected, the field events enabled Temple to roll up the wide margin of victory. Gettysburg trailed by a slim 39-33 margin after all the running events with the exception of the mile relay.

BULLET WINNERS
The field events produced two surprise performances. Junior Dick Drees captured the high jump with a leap of 6'11". Coach Hal Glad believes that if Drees can continue this pace it will solve one problem. Sophomore Dick Buss came through in the javelin throw to win with a toss of 176'11".

The cold, sunless stadium did not limit the fine ability of 440 man Jerry Staub nor 880 record-holder Bob Linders. Both men took first places in their respective events. Staub was clocked in 50.4 seconds and Linders ran a 1:55.1.

Temple, always one of top powers in the MAC, proved that this year will be no exception. The Owls took the remaining first places and four individuals recorded double victories. James MARLOW Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has used unusual language in sending fast greetings to Brazil's new president, Paschoal Ranieri Mazzilli.

In his message Johnson expressed admiration for the way Brazilians settled their difficulties "within the framework of constitutional democracy and without civil strife."

Yet, the new president's ascension to office was the result of a military coup—not a constitutional process—in which the army threw out the elected president, Joao Goulart, who then fled the country.

REALLY CONSTITUTIONAL

It was after the army got rid of Goulart that the Brazilian Congress named Mazzilli, president of the Chamber of Deputies, the new president.

The process of choosing Mazzilli could be considered constitutional since the constitution provides when there is no president or vice president the Congress will choose the chief executive.

Favorable American reaction had been expected since last Monday night when a high U.S. State Department official said there was increasing danger of a Communist takeover in Brazil.

ARMY IN ACTION

The Brazilian army went into action Tuesday night.

The Associated Press in stories from Brazil has bluntly called Goulart's regime a left-leaning, Communist-influenced government. The Johnson administration wants no more Communist takeovers in the Americas.

And Goulart had let Communists move into high positions. Last month U.S. diplomats stationed in Latin America were called here for a three-day strategy session on Johnson administration policies in the hemisphere.

JFK'S STRATEGY

After the meeting one source told this story of what happened:

Among other issues the diplomats discussed how far the United States should go in opposing certain dictatorships and military governments.

Some of the diplomats expressed belief the United States should modify its policy of disapproving some of the military and other strongly conservative governments in Latin America. (Under President John F. Kennedy this government expressed displeasure with some undemocratic regimes by calling its diplomats home and by cutting off economic and military assistance.)

HAD LITTLE EFFECT

The visiting diplomats, the same unidentifiable source said, contended that U.S. pressure had little effect on the undemo-

3 Women Escapees Back In Custody

HARRISBURG (AP) — Three female patients who fled from the Harrisburg State Hospital last Friday were back in custody today after a short-lived bid for freedom.

The last of the escapees, Marilyn Charles, 28, of Lancaster, was apprehended Sunday by state police in Carlisle.

The other two, Mrs. Mildred Crist, 21, of Chambersburg, charged with drowning her infant son in a bathtub last year, and Maryjane Bentzel, 21, of Elm, Lancaster County, were picked up Saturday at a farm house 20 miles from York where they had stopped to seek shelter.

A nine-state alert had been issued for the three after their disappearance.

NEW SKI RESORT

McCONNELLSBURG, Pa. (AP) — December 1964 is the target date for completion of a proposed new $150,000 ski resort near the Breezewood Interchange of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Promoters of the new resort area predict it will attract some $400,000 a year in business for the Bedford-Fulton County area, drawing skiers from Baltimore and Washington as well as Pennsylvania and northern Maryland.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Karl Cook, 101, who claimed to have ridden with the Jesse James gang and said he was friends with Billy the Kid and Bat Masterson, died Thursday in a hospital of pneumonia. Cook, a native of Paw Paw, Mich., had lived in Mexico 83 years.

cratic regimes and that it would be better for Washington to keep contact with anyone in power and try to use its influence to alter conditions.

Whether the Johnson administration will recognize extreme reactionary regimes, even if they take over illegally, remains to be seen. The group in control now in Brazil is conservative.

It's a nation where 8 per cent of the landowners hold 75 per cent of the cultivated land although more than 60 per cent of its more than 75 million people gain a living—often sparse—from farming.

INFLATION SOARED

More than 60 plans for farm reforms have been made in the past 13 years but little has been done about them. Yet under Goulart in the past year inflation amounted to 81 per cent.

There has been crisis after crisis in the economy. Whether Mazzilli can do any better remains to be seen. But so long as the army and the wealthy conservatives stay together a coup by leftists is unlikely.

But how long revolution can be avoided—without wide reforms to give more people a better share of the living—is a question that will haunt any regime which tries to stand pat and ignore the problem.

CATTLE TRUCK

HARRISBURG (AP) — A huge tractor trailer carrying 38 head of cattle collided with a car and overturned Sunday slowing traffic on the Pennsylvania Turnpike to almost a crawl for five hours.

Truck driver Charles T. Searey, 27, of Brook, Ind., and Barbara J. Zugay, 25, of Steelton, were treated at Harrisburg Hospital and released.

The accident occurred near the Route 83 overpass in Cumberland County just across the river from Harrisburg.

Police said the woman attempted to execute a U-turn from west to east and pulled in front of the truck.

Condition of the animals was not known.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A federal judge has granted a stay of execution to Bernard Ross, 44-year-old Clairton man who was scheduled to die next week for the 1961 slaying of a woman.

The stay was granted Friday by Judge Edward Dumbauld after Ross' attorney petitioned for a writ of habeas corpus on grounds Ross was denied due process of law during his trial in Allegheny County Court.

The attorney said the pathologist who testified at the trial about gunshot wounds that killed Mrs. Eva Mae Boston also referred to those which killed her son, Daniel 17.

This mention that another person was killed may have prejudiced the jury, the attorney said. Another son, Russell, 14, was wounded.

General MacArthur Received Many Honors During His Brilliant Military Career

MacArthur Reached Peak In His Career When He Became Supreme Authority In Japan, Won Adulation Of Japanese

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Writer
"Peace hath its victories no less renowned than war."

Toward 1:30 in the afternoon, people began to gather on the sidewalk. They clustered on both sides of the steps leading to the main entrance of the Dai Ichi Insurance Co. building in downtown Tokyo.

Presently, a tall man hurried through the high-lit entrance. He walked with long, swinging strides. He returned the salutes of the two giant American sentries — always specially chosen for stature — and went down the steps, two at a time, to a waiting limousine.

You heard a murmur, "Mah-kah-sah."

Kneel And Touch Their Foreheads

The people were Japanese and they pronounced the man's name in Japanese fashion, "Mah-kah-sah."

A man lifted a little girl to his shoulder so that she could see over the crowd. Some bowed. There were instances when very old-fashioned Japanese would kneel, touching their foreheads on the sidewalk in the "ko-tow," the traditional Oriental act of obeisance.

They had come to see Gen. Douglas MacArthur. This was in September 1945.

This was during the years of the American military occupation of Japan. MacArthur, directing it, worked seven days a week and not infrequently seven nights a week. He kept more or less regular office hours. The Tokyo people became aware of his schedule. Thus, through more than five years, the odd little tableau on the sidewalk repeated itself every day.

He Destroyed Mystic Belief

Ordinary curiosity no doubt prompted it in part.

Here was the man who had destroyed a mystic belief, held for nearly 2,000 years, that Japan was invincible in war. And here was the supreme authority in Japan, Zeus Olympias in the uniform of the United States Army.

At the time, MacArthur's gigantic image rested largely on his record as a soldier.

"MacArthur was the greatest general and best strategist that the war produced. He certainly outshone Marshall, Eisenhower and all other American and British generals including Field Marshal Montgomery.

The estimate comes from Field Marshal Lord Alan Brooke, wartime chief of the British Imperial General Staff.

a man not given to lavishing praise on other commanders.

Even before World War II, however, MacArthur had become almost a living legend. He broke records, right and left.

There was the story that, on entering West Point, he announced two objectives—to finish at the head of his class, and to end his military career as chief of staff.

In accomplishing the first, he racked up a 98.14 per cent average for four years in all subjects. It was never surpassed. Later, he fulfilled the second objective. But his career did not end there.

Many Stories Of Personal Courage

There was the story that he also broke a nonscholastic record at the academy. Allegedly, MacArthur became engaged to eight girls at the same time. The previous mark had been seven.

There were innumerable stories of his personal courage, his reckless exposure to fire in battle. MacArthur commanded the 8th Infantry Brigade of the Rainbow Division in World War I, and an associate said, "MacArthur is certain to go far in the Army if he doesn't get himself killed."

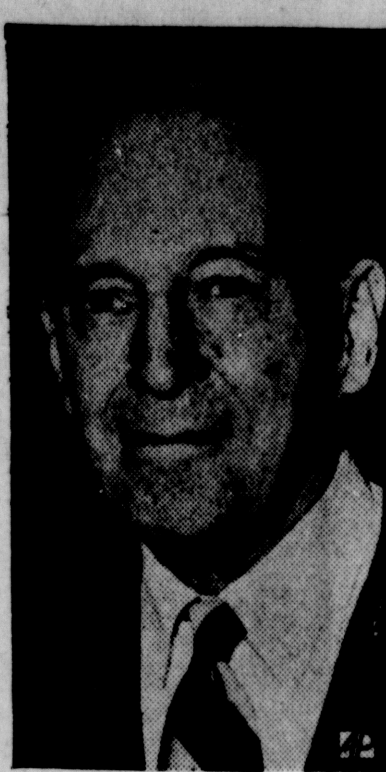

At 39, he was the youngest officer ever appointed superintendent of the Military Academy.

Was Youngest Major General

At 45, when he received his second star, he was the youngest major general in the Army.

He was only 50 when, true to his alleged prediction, he became chief of staff.

Five years later, when his military career presumably ended with retirement from this high office, he was summoned to the Philippines to organize the armed forces there. President Manuel Quezon gave him the rank of field marshal. So, years before Pearl Harbor, MacArthur's reputation was larger than life size.

GENERAL MACARTHUR

But it was, essentially, the reputation of a soldier.

More Complex, More Difficult

As director of the occupation of Japan, starting in the fall of 1945, he confronted a wholly different problem. It was more complex, more difficult, and potentially more dangerous than any of the military assignments he ever tackled.

And it may well be that, in assaying MacArthur's prodigious accomplishments, historians will count his stewardship of the occupation as the most brilliant of all his victories.

Consider the magnitude of the task.

The war left Japan physically battered. Thousands of homes had been destroyed. Hundreds of factories were out of action. Railroads and highways had been macerated and coastwise shipping all but paralyzed. Dislocated water and sanitation systems raised the spectre of epidemics in the cities.

Many Political, Social Problems

These were physical problems that had to be swiftly resolved. Even more delicate were the many-sided political and social problems.

For 50 years, Japan had been leading a kind of schizophrenic existence — half-feudal, half-modern. Parliamentary forms, borrowed from the West, had been grafted, but not successfully, on political traditions from the Middle Ages.

The Diet had been merely a debating society. Elections had been all but meaningless. Real power, owing to a curleycue in the constitution, was vested in the hands of the armed forces.

How To Draft Constitution

What kind of a constitution should now be written, what was to be the status of the emperor? How, in short, could Japan be transformed into at least a nominally democratic society?

Before the war, authoritarianism had spread a heavy hand over other areas of Japanese life as well.

Giant cartels, the "Zaibatsu," controlled most of the industry and commerce. Labor unions had been a joke. In agriculture, only about 10 per cent of the farmers owned their own land; the majority worked as tenants.

How to change these long-established patterns?

Nation Highly Industrialized

The stakes were great. Japan is the most highly industrialized nation in the Far East. Potentially, it is a military powerhouse, the counterbalance to Communist China.

When the occupation ended, would it remain aligned with the West? Or would it drift into the Communist orbit? Much depended on MacArthur's decisions during the occupation. Military genius and training, alone, would not meet this great challenge.

Fortunately, MacArthur knew the history, the traditions, the psychology and the spirit of the efficient and enigmatic Japanese. When he was 24, he had gone to Japan with his father, Gen. Arthur MacArthur. During the Russo-Japanese war, he marched as an observer with Count Maresuki Nogi's troops in the bloody battle of Mukden. He had studied the Japanese in war and peace all his life.

Used Argument And Persuasion

He brought this background and understanding to bear on the delicate tasks of the occupation.

For one thing, he did not govern by fiat. A military man might be expected to simply issue iron-clad orders and demand that they be carried out at all cost. To have done this in Japan would only have aroused hostility and invisible but bitter resistance — much to the satisfaction of the Japanese Communists.

MacArthur operated more subtly. He used a mixture of argument, persuasion, cajolment and threats to get what he wanted. He stayed behind the scenes as much as possible.

He Consciously Played A Role

In addition, he consciously played a role.

Respect for authority is one of the deepest well-springs in Japanese character. For centuries, the smallest local lords, let alone the great shoguns and clan leaders, had commanded almost blind obedience from their retainers.

So MacArthur deliberately assumed the visage of an overlord, a grand seigneur, of the all-powerful proconsul. He became in Japanese eyes a kind of imperial figure.

Somewhat raffishly, American newspapermen in Tokyo called MacArthur's headquarters "The Palace" and referred to him as "The Presence."

Accused Of Theatricalism

His detractors often accused him of theatricalism, of overweening vanity and egotism, of playing to the gallery. In Japan, there was a sound reason for the public image he created. He became the needed symbol of authority.

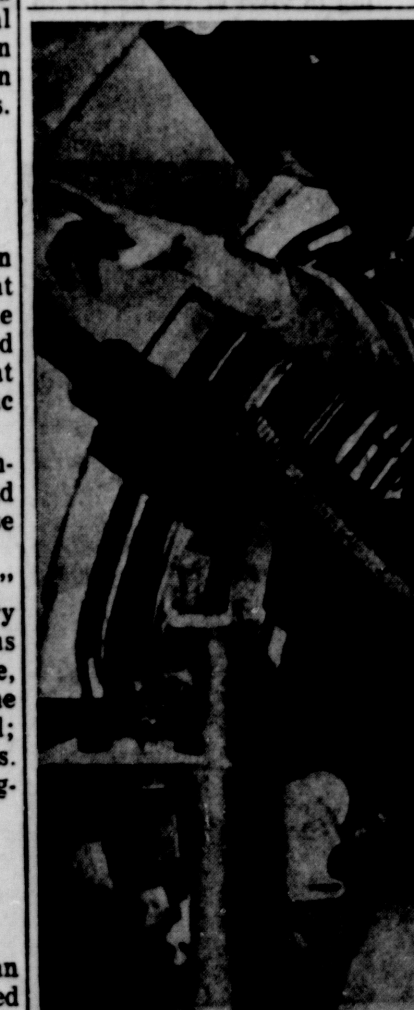

Swiftly, MacArthur's methods produced results.

As early as 1946, the first general election was held. Women voted for the first time and elected women to the Diet. Reforms in the constitution were effected. A civil liberties decree went in the books.

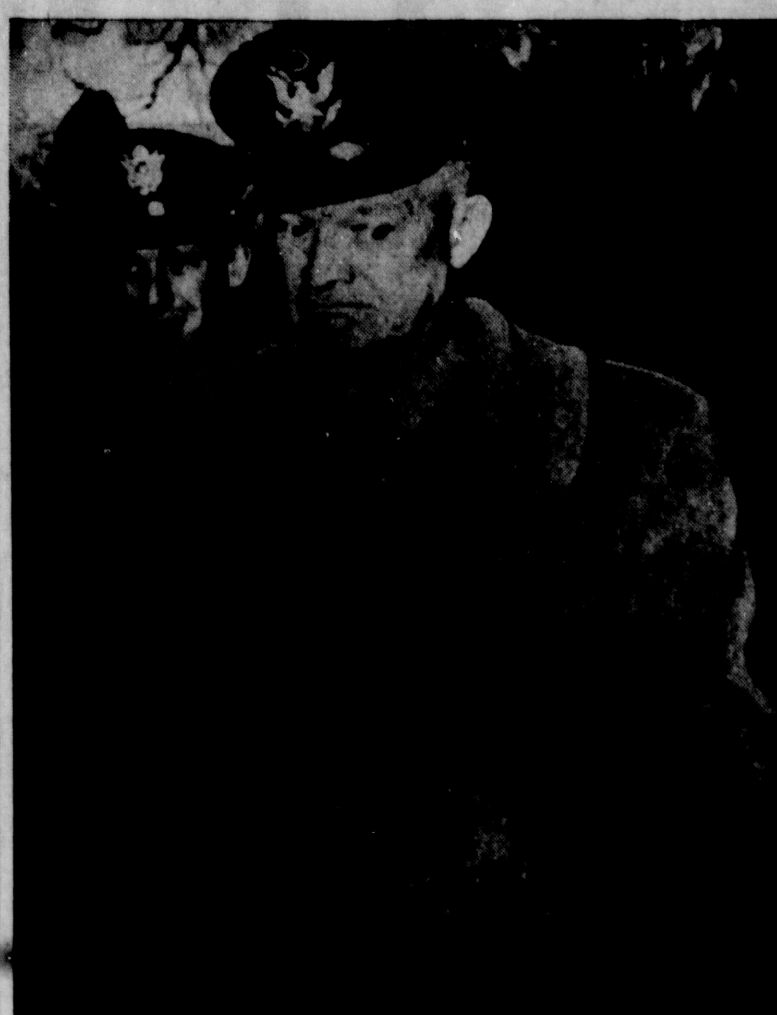

Sought Healthy Labor Union

Meanwhile, MacArthur was modifying the "Zaibatsu" structure. He worked to establish a valid and healthy labor union movement. As his program of land reform took shape, the tenant-farmer all but disappeared in agriculture. "Peace hath its victories no less renowned than war."

The occupation was MacArthur's greatest task. It may well be regarded as the greatest of all his achievements.

General MacArthur gestures from an open gun port of a flying Fortress as paratroops dropped into the Markham Valley to bottle up Japanese forces in New Guinea.

"Well, I'll be Darned" was General Eisenhower's comment on learning that General MacArthur had been relieved of his Far East command by President Truman.

Red Chinese Horde Balked MacArthur's Attempt To Bring End To Korean War

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Writer

"Home by Christmas" was a happy sentiment.

But it became a mocking memory for Gen. Douglas MacArthur and his admirers, and a barbed taunt hurled at him again and again by his critics.

MacArthur uttered the words on an icy morning in November 1950, at a moment when it appeared that the Korean War was all but ended—and victoriously. This writer was present.

The circumstances of the episode, which figured heavily in the end of MacArthur's career, are these:

On Thanksgiving Day, one of MacArthur's aides telephoned and said, "The general would like to see you in his office this evening at 6:30." Four other correspondents also were summoned to the headquarters in Tokyo.

Shortly after takeoff the next morning, his aides handed around a communique. It was dated Nov. 24, 1950, and numbered No. 12. It said:

"The United Nations massive compression envelopment in North Korea against the new Red armies operating there is now approaching its decisive effort."

"The isolating component of the pincer, our air forces of all types, have for the past three weeks, in a sustained attack of model coordination and effectiveness, successfully interdicted enemy lines of supply from the north so that further reinforcement therefrom has been sharply curtailed."

"The eastern sector of the pincer, with noteworthy and effective naval support, has steadily advanced in a brilliant tactical movement and has now reached a commanding enveloping position, cutting in two the northern reaches of the enemy's geographical potential."

"Restore Peace, Unity To Korea"

"This morning the western sector of the pincer moves forward in general assault in an effort to complete the compression and close the vise."

"If successful, this should for all practical purposes end the

Turkey Dinner And Then Korea

MacArthur was alone when we entered his office.

MacArthur's hands were always restless. Now he was rubbing the bowl of one of his pipes. He looked up with a slight smile and said he hoped he hadn't interfered with any Thanksgiving dinners. He said he was about to go home and settle down to his turkey. Then he said:

"I am going to Korea in the morning. I can take five of you. Takeoff is at 5 o'clock. You will be briefed on the plane."

This was somewhat unusual. Generally, when he went to Korea, he disclosed the purpose of the trip.

Shortly after takeoff the next morning, his aides handed around a communique. It was dated Nov. 24, 1950, and numbered No. 12. It said:

Big Offensive Is Launched

"The United Nations massive compression envelopment in North Korea against the new Red armies operating there is now approaching its decisive effort."

"The isolating component of the pincer, our air forces of all types, have for the past three weeks, in a sustained attack of model coordination and effectiveness, successfully interdicted enemy lines of supply from the north so that further reinforcement therefrom has been sharply curtailed."

"The eastern sector of the pincer, with noteworthy and effective naval support, has steadily advanced in a brilliant tactical movement and has now reached a commanding enveloping position, cutting in two the northern reaches of the enemy's geographical potential."

"Restore Peace, Unity To Korea"

"This morning the western sector of the pincer moves forward in general assault in an effort to complete the compression and close the vise."

"If successful, this should for all practical purposes end the war, restore peace and unity to Korea, enable the prompt withdrawal of United Nations military forces, and permit the complete assumption by the Korean people and nation of full sovereignty and international equality. It is that for which we fight."

The tone of this communique reflected the high optimism of the moment.

But what of the Chinese? These were the "new Red armies" to which the communique referred. They had started appearing at the front in October. Peiping said they were "volunteers." By the end of the month, however, they had lashed out with a strong counterattack. Organized units of the Chinese Red army — not a handful of "volunteers" — had conducted the operation.

Red Chinese Army Vanishes

Then a strange set of events took place.

Mysteriously, the Chinese vanished. Large fighting patrols went out hunting for them but found none. Next, they released groups of American prisoners. The soldiers said a Chinese woman translator had told them:

"The Chinese do not want to fight Americans."

Further, correspondents in the Far East were given to understand that the Central Intelligence Agency judged that large-scale intervention by the Chinese Reds was unlikely.

It was against this background that Gen. MacArthur launched the offensive in the west on Nov. 24 and issued his communique.

When his plane landed, that morning, jeeps carried the party on a jolting ride across country to 9th Corps headquarters. Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, commander of the 8th Army, rode with MacArthur. The jeeps drew up in front of a wooden shack.

"Keep Pushing As Hard As We Can"

Waiting inside were Maj. Gen. John B. Coulter, corps commander, and his intelligence officer.

Then Walker said to Coulter: "I notice you haven't mentioned any objectives, Jack. I don't like that word, 'objectives.' I think we should just keep pushing as hard as we can go."

"That's what we're going to do," Coulter replied. "We're not thinking in terms of objectives." MacArthur rose. He put his hand on Coulter's shoulder, smiled, and said: "That's right, Jack. You tell the boys that when they get to the Yalu, they're going home. I want to make good on my statement that they are going to eat Christmas dinner at home."

This was the origin of the "home by Christmas" statement.

Was Hopeful Of Ending War

MacArthur could not have meant it in the literal sense. Even if the 8th Army had reached the Yalu River, if there had been no Chinese opposition whatever, the troops could not have been withdrawn immediately to bases in Japan — much less "home" — by Dec. 25.

He was simply hopeful of ending the war before the worst of the winter months settled over North Korea. He could not know the intentions of the Chinese Reds. Hence, the optimistic "home by Christmas" probably was designed for two purposes — to reassure Peiping that the advance would end at the Yalu and not go on into Red China, and to encourage the troops.

In any event, it backfired badly.

Mountains Hide Chinese Horde

The savage, forbidding mountains on the frontier concealed a Chinese horde. After the briefings, MacArthur flew over these mountains. Looking down from an overcast window in his plane, he carefully scrutinized the tortuous terrain. If he suspected that it crawled with enemy infantry, the only way to flush them out was to order a general advance. This he did.

For two days, the offensive moved ahead smoothly. Then the Chinese came out of the mountains like an avalanche and hit the 8th Army. A general retreat began.

There was to be no "home by Christmas."

His voice was deep and in making a public speech he would pitch it to an even lower key. Then he often sounded like the old-fashioned, voice-of-doom orator. He was more effective in a small room than on the public platform.

MacArthur had an astonishing command of language. He talked fluently, seldom stumbling or pausing to reach for a word. He would analyze a complicated political or military situation in clear, simple language, moving logically from point to point as though he were reading.

However, not all his statements were couched in simple language.

For example, when his name was advanced as a possible candidate for president, MacArthur said he would not actively seek the nomination.

Then he added: "I would be recreant to all my concepts of good citizenship were I to shrink, because of the hazards and responsibilities involved, from accepting any public duty to which I might be called by the American people."

Frequently Used Religious Phrases

Religious references appeared frequently in his wartime communications and pronouncements. Of the troops lost in the defense of Bataan, he said:

"To the weeping mothers of its dead, I only say that the sacrifice and halo of Jesus of Nazareth has descended upon their sons and that God will take them unto Himself."

Famous Broadcast "I Will Return"

The famous broadcast to the Philippines when MacArthur set foot on Philippine soil for the first time said:

"I have returned. By the grace of Almighty God, our forces stand again on Philippine soil."

One of MacArthur's confidantes, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, said MacArthur was a deeply religious man, a practicing Episcopalian.

Family Held Private Prayers

MacArthur worked every Sunday and did not attend church, but Whitney wrote:

"Eight a.m. was the time for family prayers. They were led by Mrs. Phyllis Gibbons. She conducted the service from the Anglican book of common prayer, with MacArthur reading the Bible passage."

On reaching his office in the morning, Whitney reported, MacArthur first read the messages that had come from the United States during the night — and the first of these invariably were those bringing baseball or football scores.

Kept In Touch With Earl Blaik

Whitney said the former head football coach at West Point, Earl Blaik, wrote MacArthur regularly about the team and frequently consulted him about tactics. MacArthur remarked to Whitney on one occasion:

"I see Army started its second string backs yesterday. That's good generalship."

Of all the many facets of MacArthur's extraordinary personality, one of the most impressive was his marble calm.

Apparently it never cracked.

Saw Victory With Calmness

For example, during the first months of the Korean War, news from the front was consistently gloomy. American and South Korean troops kept falling back until only a tiny corner of southeastern Korea still was in non-Communist hands, the Pusan perimeter.

MacArthur's close associates were fiercely loyal, would not tolerate any criticism of their commander firm chin. His eyes were large, and dark. On the battlefield, or pondering a problem, he often squinted until they became slits.

Fluent Speaker, Sharp Analyst

In his youth, he had been an athlete and all his life he walked with a smooth, swinging stride. He held himself erect and seemed taller than he was.

Sometimes, in his office, he would sit with one leg dangling over the arm of a chair as he talked. But when he became unusually interested in the discussion, he often would pace the floor, emphasizing his points by jabbing the air with the stem of a corn-cob pipe.

A tray of smoked — out corn-cobs usually was near his desk. Less frequently, he smoked cigars and cigarettes.

Explained Stand

On Candidacy

His voice was deep and in making a public speech he would pitch it to an even lower key. Then he often sounded like the old-fashioned, voice-of-doom orator. He was more effective in a small room than on the public platform.

MacArthur had an astonishing command of language. He talked fluently, seldom stumbling or pausing to reach for a word. He would analyze a complicated political or military situation in clear, simple language, moving logically from point to point as though he were reading.

However, not all his statements were couched in simple language.

For example, when his name was advanced as a possible candidate for president, MacArthur said he would not actively seek the nomination.

Then he added: "I would be recreant to all my concepts of good citizenship were I to shrink, because of the hazards and responsibilities involved, from accepting any public duty to which I might be called by the American people."

Frequently Used Religious Phrases

Religious references appeared frequently in his wartime communications and pronouncements. Of the troops lost in the defense of Bataan, he said:

"To the weeping mothers of its dead, I only say that the sacrifice and halo of Jesus of Nazareth has descended upon their sons and that God will take them unto Himself."

Famous Broadcast "I Will Return"

The famous broadcast to the Philippines when MacArthur set foot on Philippine soil for the first time said:

"I have returned. By the grace of Almighty God, our forces stand again on Philippine soil."

One of MacArthur's confidantes, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, said MacArthur was a deeply religious man, a practicing Episcopalian.

Family Held Private Prayers

MacArthur worked every Sunday and did not attend church, but Whitney wrote:

"Eight a.m. was the time for family prayers. They were led by Mrs. Phyllis Gibbons. She conducted the service from the Anglican book of common prayer, with MacArthur reading the Bible passage."

On reaching his office in the morning, Whitney reported, MacArthur first read the messages that had come from the United States during the night — and the first of these invariably were those bringing baseball or football scores.

Kept In Touch With Earl Blaik

Whitney said the former head football coach at West Point, Earl Blaik, wrote MacArthur regularly about the team and frequently consulted him about tactics. MacArthur remarked to Whitney on one occasion:

"I see Army started its second string backs yesterday. That's good generalship."

Of all the many facets of MacArthur's extraordinary personality, one of the most impressive was his marble calm.

Apparently it never cracked.

Saw Victory With Calmness

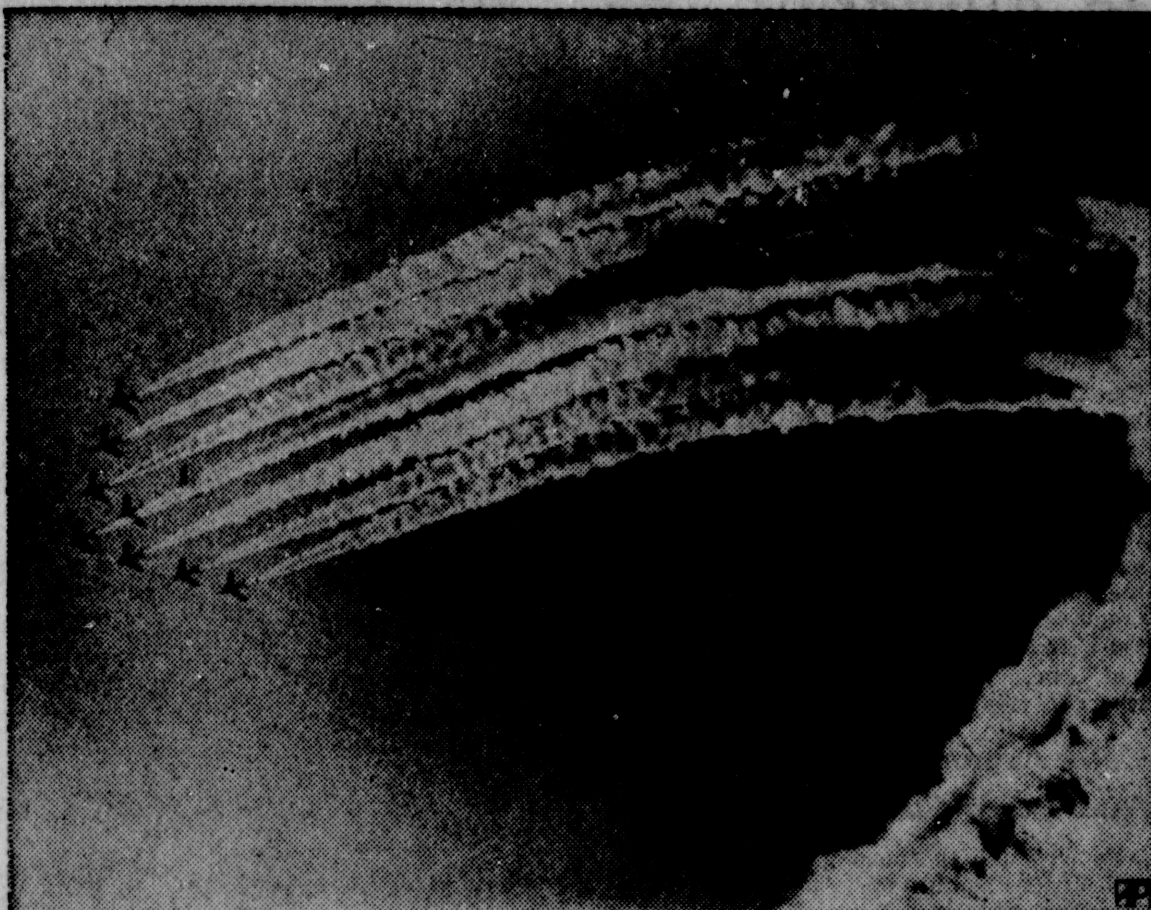

For example, during the first months of the Korean War, news from the front was consistently gloomy. American and South Korean troops kept falling back until only a tiny corner of southeastern Korea still was in non-Communist hands, the Pusan perimeter.

DISPUTED GOAL WINS FOR HAWKS

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—No one will ever convince the Detroit Red Wings that a game-tying goal in their 3-2 Stanley Cup semifinal playoff loss to Chicago Sunday night was a bona fide score.

The goal, credited to Kenny Wharram, came at 5:25 of the final period, only 13 seconds after the Red Wings had taken a 2-1 lead on Andre Pronovost's goal and some 10 minutes before Stan Mikita clinched the victory with a 25-footer past goalie Roger Crozier.

The victory gave the Hawks a 3-2 lead in their best-of-seven series.

DELAY ON SIGNAL

When Wharram scored the disputed goal, goal judge Grant Eason of Toronto did not signal the red light for several seconds. When the light did go on, referee Frank Udvari conferred with Eason.

Udvari then huddled with linesmen Ron Wicks and Matt Pavelich before again talking to Eason. Meanwhile, the crowd of 16,585 was getting impatient. Suddenly, Udvari signalled in favor of the Hawks and the Red Wings needed a few seconds before climbing all over Udvari.

Crosier, filling in for injured Terry Sawchuk, insisted that "Wharram put it in after Udvari had blown the whistle."

MONTREAL LEADS

Both the Hawks and Montreal now are in position to end their semifinal series Tuesday night. Montreal took a 3-2 lead over Toronto with a 4-2 triumph Saturday night.

The Hawks are at Detroit and Montreal at Toronto Tuesday night. If seven games are necessary they will be played in Chicago and in Montreal Thursday.

ACES BUILD WIDE LEAD IN PLAY FOR CUP

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The rags-to-riches climb of the Pittsburgh Hornets appears to be coming to a halt while that of the Quebec Aces is going full tilt.

The Aces, taking advantage of opportunities, defeated the Hornets 4-1 Sunday night and moved to a 3-0 advantage in the best-of-seven semifinal series of the American Hockey League's Calder Cup playoffs.

The Aces can wrap it up with a victory in Pittsburgh Wednesday. It is the first time Quebec, the league Eastern Division winner, has been in the playoffs since the team was organized several seasons ago. Pittsburgh, last in the 1962-63 season, won the Western Division title this year.

HERSHEY EDGES REDS

Cleveland and Hershey open the other semifinal round, a best-of-five series, Wednesday. Hershey beat Providence 3-2 and Cleveland downed Rochester 4-1 Saturday night to gain the semifinals. Hershey won its best-of-three quarter-final series, 2-1; Cleveland, 2-0.

Wayne Hicks scored for Quebec in the first period and then after Pittsburgh's Ted Hampson tied it in the second stanza, Cliff Pennington put the Aces ahead to stay. Cleland Morston also scored in the second period and Bill Dineen tallied in the third.

Joe Daley of Johnstown of the Eastern League was in the Hornets' nets in place of Roger Nozier, called up to the parent Detroit Red Wings to fill in for the injured Terry Sawchuk.

COURT GRANTS

BADLY INJURED

Mrs. Shank was hospitalized from May 2 to May 23, 1961, suffered a cerebral concussion, a compound fracture of the lower jaw, severe lacerations of both knees, one of which was also burned, bruises of the chest and body, multiple lacerations of the face, fractures of the upper tibia, and was in deep shock. X-rays show air in her chest outside the trachea which doctors assumed was a tracheal tear. On May 16 doctors drilled into her jaw bone and inserted a wire to repair the fracture. The wire was removed August 16, 1961. She suffered considerable pain and was kept on narcotics until after May 16, 1961.

She lost one tooth in the accident and eight other teeth had to be removed.

MacArthur Nurse Thanked By Grief-Stricken Widow

By JOHN BARBOUR
WASHINGTON (AP)—She wore a sweater over her white nurse's uniform against the coolness of the late afternoon. Her eyes were red with fatigue and sadness.

Since March 6, 2nd Lt. Bonnie Ritter had cared for the ailing Gen. Douglas MacArthur as recovery room nurse—and for the past two weeks, there had been little rest.

Now, she and her husband, Capt. Richard Ritter, an Army doctor, were going home. They had just been to Mass in the chapel at Walter Reed General Hospital.

So it was by accident that they became part of the crowd outside the hospital's east wing as the general's widow came out Sunday to begin the trip that would take her husband's body home to New York.

There were only a few minutes to wait before the olive green Army ambulance brought the flag-draped coffin. In those few minutes, Mrs. MacArthur saw the pretty, young nurse in the crowd.

Despite her own sadness, Mrs. MacArthur asked to speak to Bonnie Ritter.

She came forward hesitatingly, almost in half-step, in answer to the beckoning wave of Army Surgeon General Leonard D. Heaton. When she got to the limousine, behind the shelter of the open door, she saw the outstretched arms of Mrs. MacArthur. For one moment, they embraced and kissed, and Mrs. MacArthur murmured her thanks, and it was over.

son Arthur, 28, were grieving at the bedside. They had seen much history at MacArthur's side.

For example, that tragic night of March 11, 1942, with Japanese artillery and planes pounding Corregidor to a pulp. By presidential order, MacArthur left the Philippines, going in the misty darkness aboard a wooden PT-boat and taking with him his wife and son, then 4.

He vowed "I shall return"—named Corregidor as a "Holy Grail" to be regained—and he kept his promise.

CONSOLES NURSE
As the family left Walter Reed Hospital to begin the motor journey to New York Sunday night, Mrs. MacArthur leaned out to console a red-eyed, grieving nurse who had attended the general in his last hours.

The 12-car motorcade moved at a sedate 45-50 miles an hour up the broad turnpikes to New York. At tollgates, state troopers with illuminated torches waved it on, without payment of tolls.

MacArthur during his career made soldierly history. At West Point, he averaged 98.14 in his studies—the highest ever scored—and he collected in war the Medal of Honor and five Distinguished Service Medals.

GASSED, WOUNDED
He was born in Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 26, 1880, the son of Lt. Gen. Arthur MacArthur, a Civil War veteran. In World War I, he created and led the crack Rainbow Division—the 42nd. He was gassed and wounded.

As war clouds gathered for the second global conflict, he was relieved from U.S. Army duty to become a field marshal of the Philippines and train those islanders for defense.

When the islands fell, he went to Australia and, as supreme Allied commander in the Southwest Pacific, pushed the great offensives, including the island-hopping campaigns, that finally helped bring Japan to her knees.

'A LIVING GOD'
As Allied occupation commander in the beaten empire, he became a sort of super-emperor—operating partly behind the scenes to foster democracy and a peaceful spirit. One Japanese newspaper once remarked that many Japanese regarded him as "a living god."

But MacArthur did not, of course, so regard himself. To an American church group, which praised his policies in Japan, he remarked: "Though I am a Caesar, I rendered unto God that which was His."

Always, throughout his 52-year Army career, he pronounced himself a hater of war.

With the growth of nuclear weapons, he said: "Science has clearly outmoded war as a feasible arbiter."

NEWBERRYTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Lebanon's Dick Tobias outdistanced Bobby Abel of Wrightsville by 75 yards Sunday to win the 25-lap modified stock car race at the Susquehanna Speedway.

A four-car pileup on the 21st lap brought the 3,400 fans to their feet, but all the drivers emerged unhurt. One of them, John Crawford of Bloomsburg, managed to re-start and finish tenth.

NEW YORK (AP)—If there was anything they didn't need, said Richard Dewey's wife, it was another old Packard.

They already had six. And only a four-car garage.

But there was this 1932 Packard Twin-Six sports Phaeton sitting up on blocks in the garage down the street, and really they don't make them like that any more.

The fellow who owned it had gone out to California and wouldn't answer his mail, but eventually Dewey won both the owner and his own wife around, and added the car to his collection.

SIGNIFICANT MILEPOST

Dewey, who is head of the sociology department at the University of New Hampshire, drove the car through Times Square Wednesday on the way to the International Automobile Show where it will be displayed along with 15 other classic automobiles, beginning Saturday.

The Packard is one of 16 cars voted as the most significant mileposts in the history of the U.S. automobile. The magazine Sports Illustrated collected the 16 from around the country, and will sponsor the exhibit.

They range in age from a 1902 Rambler to a 1955 Thunderbird.

Dewey drove the 1932 Packard down to New York from Durham, N.H., about 280 miles, in six hours.

A STEAL

Dewey has no trouble with people tipping past him on the highway. His 12-cylinder beauty, with the original motor almost intact, can keep up. In fact, he has had a flat tire while doing 85.

And to answer the other question he is asked most often, he paid $2,500 for the car two years ago—a steal—and has been offered $10,000.

"It's worth more than that," he said. "But I don't want to sell it. My whole family enjoys it. My wife used to be known for her cooking. Now she is known as the woman who can park a 1932 Packard. It is a fun car. I don't want it in some museum."

I'M BIASED
Besides, Dewey says, you meet such interesting people when you own a classic car. Dewey first became interested in classic cars in 1958, when he was at the University of Illinois.

"Our son Keith was getting old enough for a car, he's 21 now, and we thought if he had something worth taking care of, he wouldn't hot rod it around. We bought a 1940 Packard. It cost $125, and then we discovered that we had a classic."

"A classic is a car recognized by the Classic Club for unusual and attractive design. They accept only cars in the 1925 to 1942 period, except for the 1946 and 1947 Lincolns."

"Once we got hooked on classics—and let's face it, I'm biased towards Packards—we eventually got up to seven Packards. We have only three now, including the 1932 phaeton."

TENOR TO GIVE RECITAL HERE

Gettysburg College will present John McCollum, distinguished American tenor, in a recital at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Christ Chapel.

JOHN MCCOLLUM

The public is invited. There is no admission charge.

McCollum has appeared throughout the United States and Canada as a recitalist, soloist with the leading orchestras, in oratorio, and in opera. He has been engaged repeatedly with the orchestra of New York, Boston, San Francisco, Chicago, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Washington and Baltimore.

McCollum excels also in oratorio, and has been featured soloist for such distinguished ensembles as the New York Oratorio Society, the Boston Handel and Haydn Society, the New York St. Dessoir Choir, the Schola Cantorum, the Robert Shaw Chorale and the New York Concert Choir. He has been guest soloist at a major music festival and has appeared on radio and television.

In 1930, McCollum was well-established in California as a newspaperman when he decided to switch to a singing career. His father is an editor and publisher and his brother is an editor and publicity man. McCollum, following the family pattern, studied journalism at the University of California, and stepped into a reporting job after his graduation in 1947. He was in his fourth year as city editor of the Coalinga, Calif., Record when he made his decision to leave journalism.

After studying and entering the singing field in California where he was enthusiastically received by audiences and music critics he decided to move to New York and studied with Edgar Scheffeld. In May 1952, he won the American Theater Wing Concert Award and was presented in a debut recital at Town Hall. Praise from the New York press was unanimous and his successful career was launched.

Eisenhower Is Senior Ranking Army Officer

WASHINGTON — Only nine other Americans in addition to Douglas MacArthur ever have been accorded five-star rank in the armed forces of the United States.

Eisenhower is now the senior ranking officer in the U.S. Army.

Of the nine others, only three—Generals of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower and Omar N. Bradley and Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz—are still living. In the Army Register, MacArthur has been listed as the senior ranking man.

The other six were generals of the Army John J. Pershing, George Catlett Marshall and Henry H. (Hap) Arnold and Fleet Admirals Ernest B. King, William D. Leahy and William F. (Bull) Halsey.

Pershing was the nation's only six-star general. Congress voted him the honor in 1919. Proponents of a bill to give MacArthur a sixth star have cited this precedent.

Five-star rank was not established as a regular permanent military grade until March 23, 1946, when Congress created it to single out the exploits of the nine World War II leaders.

MacArthur has stood at the head of a military hierarchy that today includes 1,292 general officers—506 in the Army, 428 in the Air Force, 297 in the Navy and 61 in the Marine Corps.

COLLEGE LISTS BELL SPEAKER

Dr. Hagen Staack of Muhlenberg College will deliver the annual Bell lecture at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Weidenhall Auditorium, Gettysburg College. His topic will be "The Relationship of Scientific Thought Forms and Content to Contemporary Theology and Preaching." The public is invited.

Dr. Staack is currently appearing on the NBC television series, "Frontiers of Faith."

A native of Germany, Dr. Staack has had a colorful career. He fought with the German army on the eastern front in World War II, was wounded five times and spent 10 months in prison camps in Russia and elsewhere.

Educated in Germany, he received an M.S. degree in geology from Rostock University in 1936, his Ph.D. from Hamburg University in 1938 and S.T.M. degree from Berlin Theological Seminary, 1939. He was ordained in 1939 in the Confessional Church in Germany and drafted into the German army the same year.

Following the war in 1945 he was on the first faculty of Hamburg University. He came to the United States in 1949 under a National Council of Churches fellowship and studied and lectured at Princeton University.

In 1950 he became pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Allentown, and in 1954 was named head of the department of religion at Muhlenberg College. He still teaches a course in geology at Temple University.

Dr. Staack is married and is the father of six children.

"I Shall Return" Were Mac's Words

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
When Gen. Douglas MacArthur made his public vow to go back to the Philippines—as he evacuated the island early in World War II—he was reported to have said it this way: "I will return."

Associated Press dispatches of the period report the "I will" version of MacArthur's statement.

But later versions—including those in standard reference books—quote MacArthur as saying, "I shall return."

The Pentagon made it official Sunday. Army sources said historical records had established that he said, "I shall return."

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pitt's Mike Johnson is a step closer to representing the United States at the Olympic wrestling matches in Tokyo.

Johnson, captain of the university's wrestling team, came through unbeaten in five district qualifying matches at the Pitt Field House.

MANILA (AP)—Viet Nam made a successful debut and the Philippines won handily Sunday in Davis Cup tennis competition. The Vietnamese, competing for the first time in Cup play, ousted Iran 3-2 in Tehran and the Philippines beat South Korea 4-1 at Manila.

Presidents And Politicians Acclaim MacArthur's Skill As Finest Soldier, Citizen

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tributes have been paid in all parts of the country to General of the Army Douglas MacArthur — called by President Johnson "one of the most distinguished soldiers in the history of the United States."

Johnson, ordering the nation's flags flown at half-staff until after the funeral next Saturday, said MacArthur was "a living embodiment of the code he so eloquently expressed — duty-honor-country."

TRUMAN'S TRIBUTE

Former President Harry S. Truman, who fired MacArthur from all his commands in a dispute over conduct of the Korean War, said he was "deeply sorry at the passing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who has given of himself with exceptional strength and valor and will be remembered as one of the great military men in our history."

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., called MacArthur "one of America's greatest soldiers and one of its finest citizens."

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, an opponent of Goldwater for the Republican nomination for president, said MacArthur's "brilliant leadership and heroic patriotism were in the highest tradition of this nation."

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said MacArthur was "a true giant on the American and world scene—liberator of the Philippines, architect of victory in the Pacific and creator of modern Japan."

PRESIDENTS PRAISE

Tributes also came from two other former presidents. Herbert Hoover, who named MacArthur chief of staff in 1931, and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who twice served on MacArthur's staff.

Calling MacArthur "a great man, a great general and a great patriot," Hoover said "the world is a finer place for his having lived in it."

Eisenhower said, "Through a long lifetime of service he earned the admiration and respect of his fellow citizens and the personal devotion of those he led in battle."

STATE MOURNS DEATH OF HERO IN SAD SALUTE

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Scranton and thousands of Pennsylvanians joined the nation today in mourning the death of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, paying tribute to him as one of the world's greatest heroes.

"His death was as his life, valiant and courageous," Scranton declared in a statement from Hobe Sound, Fla., where he was winding up a 10-day vacation with his family.

"He was one of America's bona fide heroes and now becomes one of her legends."

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower paid tribute, too, calling on the nation to stand in sad salute.

"Through a long lifetime of service he earned the admiration and respect of his fellow citizens and the personal devotion of those he led in battle," Eisenhower said from his vacation home in Palm Desert, Calif.

Maj. Gen. Thomas R. White, Pennsylvania's adjutant general, who saw MacArthur in battle but met him only once, hailed the general as the "military genius of the century."

BISHOP'S TRIBUTE

All called him a great man. "The United States has lost one of its greatest statesmen-soldiers," stated Bishop Fred Pierce Corson, president of the World Methodist Council.

Mayor James H. J. Tate of Philadelphia directed that all flags be flown at half mast at all city installations and municipal buildings. A similar order is expected from Scranton.

"Gen. MacArthur will never fade from the pages of history," said Tate, recalling the general's famous quote "Old soldiers never die, they just fade away."

LIVING LEGEND

"He was one of the few men who became a legend during his lifetime," the Philadelphia may- or went on. "Our deepest sympathy is extended to his family and our prayers are offered for the repose of his soul."

Death came to the 84-year-old attack. A political junta which overthrew Cuban President Machado named Hevia provisional president for one day before electing a successor.

war hero at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at Walter Reed Medical Center, taking him from a coma in which he had lain since Friday night.

Sorrow and condolences flowed in from all over the state as word of the general's death was received.

Admiral Robert W. Cavenagh, commandant of the 4th Naval District in Philadelphia, described it as "a great loss for all."

"Even in the last days we could appreciate his great strength and courage," Cavenagh said.

COURT SALUTE

Chief Justice John Bell Jr. of the State Supreme Court called MacArthur "one of the greatest Americans in history."

Charles Walsh, commander of the 1st District, Department of Pennsylvania, Veterans of Foreign Wars said:

"The VFW is deeply grieved at the passing of Gen. MacArthur. We feel that his undaunted energy and courage was a turning point in the Second World War in the Pacific. We believe he will be accorded a place among the greatest military strategists of all time."

An old soldier remembered MacArthur, too—Col. John Truitt, friend and interpreter of the general.

RECALLS FIRST MISSION

Truitt, 85, now in retirement at the Cobbs Creek Nursing Home, recalled a Sunday night in 1903 when he was stationed in the Philippine Islands.

MacArthur had just been graduated from West Point.

Truitt said he took MacArthur in hand and instructed him about his new assignment. He served as MacArthur's interpreter while teaching him to speak Tagalog and Spanish.

Truitt had served in the same capacity for MacArthur's father, Lt. Col. Arthur MacArthur, before the young lieutenant arrived in the islands.

GENOA, Italy (AP)—An international congress of shipyard workers wants shipbuilders to expand into other industries to save employees from job loss.

A three-day annual meeting which closed in this big port city Friday night urged first that the world's shipbuilders try to expand production and job opportunities in their own field.

Where that is not possible, said the congress, there should be "diversification of shipyard production to other branches of industrial production."

Byers by the family.

3RD STRAIGHT ATLANTA WIN

ATLANTA (AP)—A decision to let others set the early, record-making pace paid off for Fred Lorenzen, the Elmhurst, Ill., Ford driver who captured his third straight Atlanta 500 stock car race.

Lorenzen set an Atlanta International Raceway record when he won the pole position by qualifying at a four-lap average of 146.470. He pushed his 1964 Ford to a record 134.25 miles per hour average Sunday in winning the NASCAR sanctioned race before an estimated 60,000 fans.

Lorenzen's first prize money was $15,150.

There was little competition during the last 150 miles as Lorenzen held a two-lap advantage for most of that distance over second place finisher Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N.C., in a Dodge. Isaac won $7,750.

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Communist party has announced an anti-Semitic booklet published by the Ukrainian Academy of Sciences, the Communist party paper Pravda reported today.

Pravda quoted the ideological committee of the Communist party's Central Committee as saying the booklet had helped the enemies of the Soviet Union and harmed "our ideological education work" in promoting atheism.

The booklet, "Judaism With Disguise," has been widely denounced abroad. European and American Communists have joined the outcry.

Needlecraft ENGLE SEEKS GRID PLAYERS

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Penn State football coach Rip Engle has one prime concern at the moment: to find players who turn out a 100 per cent effort 100 per cent of the time.

"We're not too concerned with what they play," he said Sunday at 65 candidates turned out for the opening of spring practice. "We'll fit the player to the position if he gives us a 100 per cent effort."

Major positions to be filled in the Nittany Lion lineup are quarterback, linebacker and end.

Already Engle has suffered one major setback with the announcement that Ron Coates, a kicking star and first in line to succeed Pete Liske at quarterback, is giving up football.

Coates is planning to accelerate his academic schedule, so he can graduate in September. So far no other serious defections have been reported. The Lions finish the 20-day practice schedule May 9 with the annual Blue-White intrasquad game.

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Fullback Jim Taylor signed his seventh National Football League contract with the Green Bay Packers today. Taylor, the Packers No. 2 draft choice in 1958 after he starred for Louisiana State, led the NFL in rushing in 1962, and was runner-up to Cleveland's Jimmy Brown last season.

SAY TIME IS RUNNING OUT FOR SCRANTON

HARRISBURG (AP) — Time may be growing short for Gov. Scranton and his chances for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination, says an official of the GOP National Committee.

"I think the longer he waits the more difficult the task becomes for his nomination," Fred C. Scribner Jr., general counsel for the committee, declared Sunday.

Scranton, considered by many as a strong contender for the nomination, has insisted repeatedly he is not running for president and would accept the nomination only in the event of a sincere and honest draft.

CAN SEE DRAFT

"If you assume that this is a normal political year, time is growing short for the governor," said Scribner, "but there are many people who feel the voters are demonstrating a desire for a choice other than the declared and active candidates. In that kind of a situation you could see a draft which many people think is not possible in modern politics."

Scribner made his remarks to some 100 Republican legislative and congressional candidates attending a one-day "practical politics school" arranged by the GOP state committee.

The Republican presidential candidate will be well-tested and well-known by campaign time, Scribner said, urging all party members to "get over the idea President Johnson can't be beat."

Asked if these standards applied to Scranton, he replied: "As of this moment, well-tested, yes; well-known, no."

Scribner also noted that Scranton is lagging well behind the announced candidates, in the national polls, but seems to be gaining strength.

"Gov. Scranton has done better than anyone else in the presidential preference polls except Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge," he said.

As for President Johnson, Scribner said he is not invincible and can be beaten in the November elections.

McArthur's Close

MacArthur coolly announced that the Reds had lost their opportunity to win the war. He spoke in a quiet, matter-of-fact manner.

"Maybe the Old Man knows what he's talking about," said a correspondent. "But it looks as though he's 180 degrees off the beam this time."

Was Unmoved

By Red Support

Yet the perimeter held. Then, with the Inchon landings in September, the tide turned. The war in fact was won until the Chinese Reds intervened. Even that news seemed to leave MacArthur unmoved.

The thunderbolt from Washington—when President Harry S. Truman fired MacArthur—came without warning. Whitney said MacArthur was having a luncheon party. The announcement was whispered to him privately. He said MacArthur's face froze and the general quietly remarked to his wife: "Jeannie, we're going home."

A Lovelier You

By MARY SUE MILLER

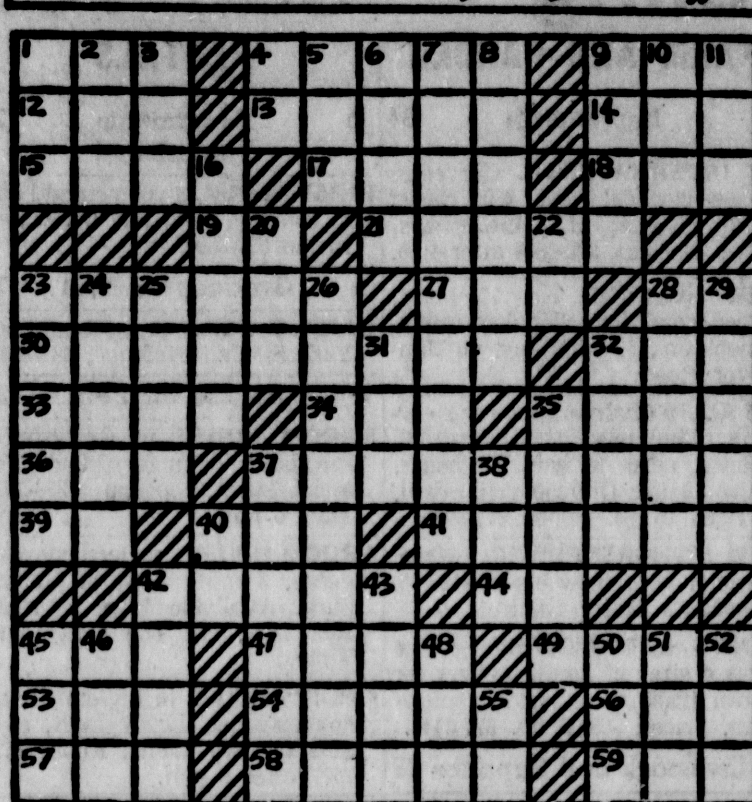

SOME TEARS MUST FALL. A lovely mother asks: When you've had a crying spell, how can you get your eyes back to normal?

My teen daughter refused to go to a dance because her eyes were red and swollen from crying. Meanwhile her date idled in the living room and so did her father. The reason for her tears was as childish as her decision to stay home. I supposed I should have let her stew in her tears, but I felt sorry for her defenselessness. So I tried cold water, tea and sympathy, but it didn't work. Now I'm curious about what would.

The Answer: 'Twas ever thus. Females get rattled and the tears spill over. Sometimes the cause is just and sometimes it is pure foolish. Let us hope that we girls will learn to control temperamental tears. It's for our own good. For the male, from grandfathers to small boys, prays for delivery from unreasonable weeping.

So when a girl weeps without real reason, she's best to do it in private and remove the traces. A trace remover follows:

Take off any make-up and flush eyes with mild eye drops. Then bath eye areas with comfortably hot water for three minutes and with cold water one minute. Wring out absorbent cotton pads in chilled witch hazel, lie down and compress them to closed eyes for five minutes. On arising, reapply make-up, using a spot stick on circles and rouge on pale cheeks.

Lastly, get back on the social scene. And smile—if it kills you!

VAUGHN EAGER FOR PANAMA EMBASSY POST

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's nomination of Jack Hood Vaughn as ambassador to Panama is expected to reach the Senate by midweek, and the onetime boxer is "rarin' to go."

Johnson told a news conference Saturday that Vaughn, now director of the Peace Corps Latin-American operation, will be on his way to Panama "just as soon as he can be confirmed by the Senate."

No difficulty is anticipated, and Vaughn, who has been holding his breath for three months, then will head for his "second home."

Vaughn, 43, who boxed both as an amateur and as a professional, was ticketed for the Panama assignment last January when it appeared the United States and Panama might be able to maintain diplomatic ties although bloody rioting had broken out in the Canal Zone. But the two countries broke relations, and they were not resumed until Saturday.

WILL REMOVE RELATIVES

His attitude was one of obvious satisfaction. "This has been a good week for this hemisphere," he declared.

The President referred specifically to Panama and Brazil. In the first instance, he said, "we are encouraged by the developments." In the second, the overthrow of leftist President Joao Goulart of Brazil, Johnson said "we are glad that the transition in Brazil has been constitutional."

An exchange of notes Saturday between the State Department and Panama's Foreign Ministry official resumed relations.
